HOW IT ALL BEGAN

Angels with Blue Jeans' (ABJ) inception was January of 2006, in which the crusade for the betterment of the communities we live in, commenced. Angels with Blue Jeans is a community-based organization committed to eradicating cancer as a health issue through research, education, community, and service as well as, other terminal illnesses. In addition, we are defenders of animals in need.

Cancer is no stranger to ABJ, we have family members that were diagnosed with the illness and the experience in caring for them. We have also lost family members to the illness and have created this organization to help the community live with, fight it and survive.

Angels with Blue Jeans (ABJ) is a non profit public benefit corporation (501c3).

NATIVE AMERICAN PROGRAM

There is a overwhelming need for braces, glasses, clothing, and family transportation for Native American families. The Native Americans as a whole lack the funding and are on a long waiting list for medical operating procedures just like everyone else. Angels with Blue Jeans help provide the necessary means to make life a bit happier for all. An in addition to all of this, the Native American farmers and ranchers struggle to make a living with this old American tradition. We are helping to succeed.
